

James Graham Brown Scholars Program

2022-23 Information/Application for High School

High school seniors of exceptional academic ability are welcome to apply for admission to the James Graham Brown Scholars Program. Students accepted into the Brown Scholars Program participate in a special program of seminars, community experiences, and the opportunity for advanced research in their majors under the direction of JGBS professors (a Fellowship). This small program not only enhances the educational experience of academically superior students, and can provide them with tuition-free scholarships, but also provides Scholars with exceptional university credentials for future experiences and/or graduate school opportunities.

SCHOLARS PROGRAM

at THOMAS MORE UNIVERSITY

Eligibility

Minimum qualifications to be considered for the JGBS Program are:

- Acceptance into Thomas More University
- High school cumulative weighted GPA of 4.0* OR ACT 29/SAT 1330/CLT 90
- Completed and filed Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA)
- Completed application submission. Once you submit the JGBS application form, you will receive an email prompting you to upload your remaining materials through an application portal. Your three letters of recommendation, however, must be sent directly from your recommenders to JGBS@thomasmore.edu. If you list your recommenders on the application form, they will receive a message prompting them to email your letter.
 - JGBS application form (online at www.thomasmore.edu/jgbs)
 - three letters of recommendation (attesting to academic merit and character);
 - blind application essay;
 - two-minute audio or video self-interview (details below);
 - chart listing significant community service (fill in chart below)

The JGBS Committee selects applicants who show the highest scholastic ability based on the above, as well as outstanding character and personal qualities that enhance the Brown Scholars Program. For all finalists, an interview (by Zoom) will be conducted on 14 January 2022; finalists should expect their interview invitation before 10 January.

To fulfill the James Graham Brown Scholars Program commitment, students must register for at least 15 credits each semester including the Seminar or Community Service or Internship or Fellowship project.

Brown Scholars must maintain a high quality of performance in written and verbal expression and critical judgment in all areas of the Program. They must also maintain a cumulative GPA of 3.5 or better (rounding up is not permitted). Students who do not maintain quality performance or exhibit major deficiencies of character will be removed from the program, subject to the appeal procedures of the University.

*If you are relying on your GPA for admittance into JGBS and your final grades are not available prior to the deadlines, you may apply using mid-term grades. If you earn an interview, you will need to submit your cumulative GPA including final fall semester grades before interviewing. Applicants are expected to maintain the minimum GPA throughout the application process.

THE JAMES GRAHAM BROWN SCHOLARS PROGRAM

Brown Scholars

Students are initially appointed as Brown Scholars. During this period of the program, students must complete the minimum requirements of two Seminars and one full year (90 hours) of Community Service. Every student must fulfill a Program commitment every semester (Seminar or Service or Internship as detailed below).

Community Service Experience is a social service program based within the University's service learning mission. Many Brown Scholars participate in the nearby primary school tutoring programs but other Community Service options are available through other Departments. Community Service is possible concurrently with the Seminar or Internship.

JGBS Program students will be expected to participate in all Program activities such as a welcome luncheon, weekend retreats, leadership workshops, lectures, and cultural events.

Brown Scholars must complete at least two seminars and an approved Community Service experience (3 credits) and have finished the junior year as minimum requirements for advancement to the optional Fellowship level of the program.

JGBS Fellows

During the second semester of the junior year, Brown Scholars who have completed the minimum requirements of the Scholar's level (two seminars and one Community Experience) have the option to apply for appointment during their senior year as a JGBS Fellow. JGBS Fellows do not take Seminars or Community Experience, but instead undertake special research in their majors. This senior research must consist of a two-semester, three-credit project approved both by the JGBS Faculty Committee and by the Fellow's department. The research is supervised by a departmental professor.

JGBS GRADUATES

JGBS Fellows wear special graduation cords and receive a special Diploma noting the Fellowship.

All James Graham Brown Scholars and Fellows, and all JGBS professors, become life-members of the James Graham Brown Scholars Society, which meets several times per year to reunite the graduates of the Program in social activities and service projects.

Scholarship Essay

The essay is evaluated anonymously and should not have your name on it. Upload your essay response through your application portal.

Essay Prompt

Recently French President Macron asked the French people how they might restore more strength to democracy and citizenship, where being a citizen involves deciding a country's future by actively participating at the local and national levels. What are some creative solutions or ideas for encouraging more U.S. citizen engagement (voting or otherwise)? If you could advise the U.S. Congress, what would you recommend?

Your answer should not merely catalogue your own efforts at community engagement. Nor does it necessarily need to focus on politics or voting, but it could. Or, it could focus on exploring ideas to get folks more involved in their local communities, to strengthen neighborhoods and community.

In 750-1000 words, please reflect on this question of stimulating citizen engagement. Your well-crafted and polished essay should reflect your own original thinking with no or minimal references to outside sources; your audience consists of college professors. There is no right or wrong answer – we are genuinely interested in your honest response and how well you address this issue that is central to a sustained and vital democracy

Service Chart

Fill out the chart below listing your top 15 service experiences completed during high school. Give priority to significant service which includes a long-term commitment with one organization or a concentrated effort (such as a full-weekend service retreat). Upload your completed service chart through your application portal.

Organization	# of Completed Hours	Recurring? (Yes or No)	If Recurring, Frequency (e.g., weekly, monthly, etc.)
